Dear Parents and Carers,

Wishing you a restful half term and I hope you enjoy the extended jubilee weekend. It's been a busy last week of term. Year 9 students attended the Leadership in Focus Programme at IntoUniversity, Year 10 students participated in the digital media talk, thanks to all students who were a credit to the school. It was also the Haringey Athletics Championships and it was fantastic to see so many of our students do so well in the competition. We have our own Sports Day coming up which is the start of a major relaunch for so many sporting clubs and fixtures we intend to set up next year. And of course our Year 11 students are still working their way through the examinations.

When we return after half term it will be a very busy time. On Monday 6th, Year 10 students will be seeing a performance of Macbeth and An Inspector Calls, on Tuesday 7th, it will be the Year 10 Information Evening. Year 11 exams will continue, followed by our end of year assessments and Year 10 mock exams. The Year 10 Work Experience Week returns as part of our expansive Summer Enrichment Programme.

Finally, if you have a child, friend or relative who is joining us in September do get them to sign up to the Summer School (25th-30th July) which was an incredibly successful and popular event last year.

Have a good half term.

Hetty Feather (Hetty Feather, 1)

Rating

Hetty Feather is a book that is centred in Victorian times, which is based on some real-life things that came from that era. And I do really like it for what it is. It is about a young girl called Hetty Feather who was abandoned by her mother as a baby because she couldn't take care of her at the time. And along the way, you see Hetty develop a sort of energetic, free-spirited, and rebellious personality. However, I still have my problems like how the children are treated in the story because of the era that it's in and how generally grey it is throughout the series of events. Now whether I do or don't recommend this book depends on what kind of books you like. I am however, certain you'll like it if you are into learning more about Victorian times in a different manner.

Maguire : bfrom the playground to the pitch

Rating

This book was enjoyable for me to read. The reason I enjoyed this book is because Harry Maguire's interesting life gives you motivation/inspiration to train and work hard to become a footballer. This book also describes the hardships that Harry had to go through to become better and better until he became a professional footballer - even then he still faced many hardships. Harry has also achieved his dream which was to play for his home team, England.

I would recommend this book to students around the age of 7 and over.

Brightstorm : ba sky-ship adventure

Rating

I enjoyed every second of this book. It's one of the few stories that I know that isn't completely grim these days and instead tries to find a balance in being a bit gray and a bit light-hearted. And this is the required tone for any adventure book (especially this one) to have, and it delivers. I don't believe I have any complaints for this book. It's just a solid time from start to finish that I recommend you check out.
